MINUTES OF COUNCIL MEETING

The following is a resume of minutes of council meeting of M.D. Sturgeon No. 90 held on Thursday, Sept, 13, 1951:

Council meeting of M.D. Sturgeon No. 90 held Thursday, Sept. 13, 1951, with all Councillors present:

Financial statements for July and August submitted by the Secretary were read and ordered filed.

Proposed Shopping Centre

Messrs Landers and Bishop interviewed the Council regarding a proposed Shopping Centre to be established within the bounds of the Municipality and outside of the Edmonton City Limits. It is proposed to erect some 60 stores, office buildings for two banks, etc., free parking space for 5,000 cars on paved grounds, indoor all-weather playgrounds and swimming pools, auditorium to serve civic, social and charitable organizations, emergency hospital, comfort stations permanently supervised, fire department, police department, night shopping, Church of all Nations, a theatre, hotel, and a public market for 40 to 50 stalls.

At present difficulty is being encountered in obtaining consent of the City to hooking up to their water and sewerage mains, but is is hoped shortly that this difficulty will be overcome. Also there are others endeavoring to block the project when it is brought up for approval at a Edmonton District Planning Commission meeting, with a view to having the location changed to another area. The Council was also informed that the location selected will be where the Shopping Centre will be built, or not at all.

The object of the interview is to ascertain whether the Council of M.D. Sturgeon would have any objections to issuing a permit for the erection of such a project within the bounds of the Municipality. (At present the plans and estimates have not been completed, but will be in the near future.) Also has the Edmonton District Planning Commission power over the Municipal District of Sturgeon, to over-ride a decision of the Council to grant a permit. The Secretary informed the Council that he cannot see that the Edmonton District Planning Commission can over-ride the decision of the Municipal Council, as the plans of the Metropolitan Planning Commission have not been made effective by By-law of the Municipalities concerned and, therefore, the matter remains within the jurisdiction of the Council of the Municipal District of Sturgeon No. 90.

However, the Council should amend our by-law re-zoning the area in question from Small Farming to "Local Commercial." The Council's reaction to the proposal was very favorably received, and would be prepared to pass the necessary amending By-law re-zoning the area into Local Commercial, but it must be understood that no housing project will be established within the designated area.

It was then moved by Coun. Geo. Holmes that the Council favor in principle the proposed Shopping Centre Project, and when all details have been consummated, plans and estimates to conform with the Building By-law of the Municipality together with an application for a building permit, be submitted to the Council for consideration. Carried unanimously.

Closing of Road

Application from Mr. Frazer to close road allowance commencing corner of S.E. 4-56-23-4 then north one mile to the river, received, and Mr. Frazer was informed that the Council would recommend to the Dept. of Public Works the closing of this road.

Imperial Oil Tanks at Waugh

Application from Imperial Oil Co. to erect warehouse and underground storage tanks on part of Waugh Co-op Property was recommended on the motion of Coun. Laskewski.

Civil Defence

Notice for Council to appoint an instructor to attend courses at Agriculture School at Olds. It was the opinion of the Council that it would be very difficult to obtain anyone at this time of the year to take a course. Secretary was instructed to write to Col. Rodgers and see if he would accept such an appointment, and the Council would endeavor to get in touch with some ratepayer regarding an instructor's course and would let the Secretary know if anyone was available.

Reinforced Concrete Tile Culvert

Application from Underwood and McLellan of Saskatoon on behalf of Dept. of National Defence that permission be granted for placing of a reinforced concrete tile culvert through road allowance which is north of Sect. 20-54-24-4. On the motion of Reeve Rowswell permission was granted, with the proviso that all precautions necessary will be taken regarding provision for traffic, protection of the public, replacement of roadway and surface, together with cleaning of ditches, etc.

Prairie Farm Assistance Act

The Council instructed the Secretary to notify Department of Agriculture at Regina that all townships within the bounds of the Municipality at present would not be eligible under the Act, as the average yield of wheat would be over 10 bushels to the acre.

Department of Agriculture

Regulations regarding the movement and feeding of weed seed screenings received, and on the motion of Coun. Carlton the Secretary was instructed to place a copy of the regulations in the local papers for two weeks, with a notation that these regulations will be enforced and that weed

Price Control Not The Answer

WINNIPEG. — (BUP)—Price controls on comodities would not combat inflation and would be harmful to all Canadians, an official of the Searle Grain Co., Ltd., said.

Major H. G. L. Strange, director of the company's research department, said, "government controls over prices never have helped and never can help to control inflation."

"Higher prices are the symptoms—the effects—and not the cause of inflation," he said.

Major Strange addressed the opening luncheon of the Canadian Woollen and Knit Goods Manufacturers' Association three-day annual meeting in Winnipeg.

He said, "price controls over commodities would have to include price controls over all wages, cost of living bonuses, overtime pay and salaries; would inevitably involve rationing, quotas, permits, queues, together with fines and imprisonment for non-compliance with many oppressive rules and regulations."

SHOULD HOMEWORK BE ABOLISHED

A plea for the total abolishment of homework is made by social worker and magazine writer Sidney Katz in the current issue of Maclean's Magazine.

Katz, an assistant editor on the magazine, says "there is strong evidence that homework sours pupils on learning for the rest of their lives, creates unnecessary work and worry for parents and robs pupils of wholesome recreational and social life during their most formative years."

Katz personally surveyed 50 school teachers, principals and inspectors from all over Canada. He reports that none favored homework in the first six grades of school. Only a few were in favor of it from grades 7 to 10. All said that homework assignments in senior high school grades were excessive.

Said Clarence Vickery, a Toronto principal: "Homework doesn't help the slow child. The fast child doesn't need it. So why give it?"

Said Lorne F. Titus, chief school superintendent for Saskatchewan: "Children need their out-of-school time for other experiences."

Said a New Brunswick School Board member: "How would Dad like to be faced with two or three hours of more office work just as he gets ready to relax after supper?"

A recent Alberta study by Raymond Shaul, says Katz, studied 2,000 teachers, parents and pupils and found most teachers opposed to homework.

Katz points out that a Nova Scotia ruling prohibits Grade I pupils from taking their readers home and doing homework because the youngsters were "learning to read" by memorizing the books.

Katz blames parents for continued heavy homework assignments. Teachers and principals, he claims, are opposed to it; and he quotes one teacher as saying "We plead with the parents to stop interfering."

Welcome, Royalty

Canadians in Montreal and Quebec have shown such enthusiasm for the Princess and her husband, that we wonder why members of the Royal family don't come oftener to visit us.

The King of England is also the King of Canada. If his position in the old country ever became untenable he would have equal rights as Monarch in Ottawa as he now has in London.

While the King is permanently represented here by a Governor-General, in this age of fast flight, we think he would be much more appreciated by this country if he were to fly to Canada annually for the express purpose of opening Parliament. That is, provided his health is good, and that other conditions are right.

We welcome the heir to the Throne, not as a stranger, but as a Royal member of the family of which we are a part. We are glad that His Majesty's health is improving sufficiently that the Royal tour can be made, and hope that he will continue to gain in strength. Only if the Monarch's condition is satisfactory, as reported by daily bulletins from Buckingham Palace, will Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip be able to enjoy their Canadian visit with minds at rest.

Bakeries Convicted

There can only be satisfaction in the fact that the offending six western bakeries charged with restricting competition in order to keep the price of their commodity up, were given the maximum penalty the law allows, but satisfaction also that the presiding judge in the case, Mr. Justice Boyd McBride, minced no words in condemning the companies in scathing terms for what he described as misrepresentation, fraud, dishonest trickery and plunder.

But the most serious implication revealed by the trial in the evidence before the court is the disturbing revelation that the bread combine actually received aid and comfort from the Alberta department of trade and industry. The evidence showed that on one occasion an official of the department presided at a meeting where an Edmonton chain store official was persuaded to raise the price of the loaves his company baked to the level desired by the combine and enforced or imposed on the trade by it.

It was shown, in the evidence, that this official of the chain store thought this was a request of the government in consequence of the government's representative presiding. It was admitted that at one time the then secretary of the Alberta Bakers' Association, who was not a government employee, was permitted by officers above him in the department to use official stationery for threatening letters to bakers who were underselling the combine. These letters were even signed for the department of trade and industry.

The inquiry into the Bakeries' combine came as the direct result of demands made by the Liberal party leaders in Alberta in 1948. At a public meeting in Grande Prairie in July of that year, J. Harper Prowse, M.L.A., Lib-treal leader in Alberta, mentioned the illegal doings of the Bakery Combine and a telegram was sent to Ottawa following the meeting urging that an enquiry take place.

Every Day Living

Who is rated GREAT in your community? So often we hear Mr. so and so spoken of as, "a great man." What is the measure of human greatness? Power? Wealth? The ability to dominate? Some men and women have so considered them.

Service, however, is the real test of greatness. If there is one thing for which the name of Jesus stands, it is the self-giving life. In Jesus' day the first duty of hospitality was to supply water for the washing of the dusty and bruised feet of the guest, but the foot washing was done by the servant. In the upper room Jesus Himself washed the disciples' feet. Thus, with a deed of love, He portrayed what He meant by true greatness: the greatest among you is the servant of all.

Jesus taught and lived the revolutionary idea that the measure of human greatness is neither power, nor wealth, nor one's ability to dominate, but one's ability to serve. Service is the real test of greatness. It behooves you and I neighbor, to make a careful check when we begin to place ourselves among the great. For, unless our business, profession, or calling in life, serves man-kind and the community in which we operate, we have no claim upon greatness—check again.

". . . Whosoever will be chief among you, let him be your servant." Matthew 20:27.

Read today—Matthew 20:20-28.

The Successful Trapper

By T. W. PUE

Joe Andrews (that's not his real name) had had a successful trapping season. He had started early in the fall to lay out his string of traps and took justifiable pride in the way in which he was able to lure fox, lynx and muskrat and other animals to their death.

The trap line is nearly 100 miles long. Joe's home cabin sitting a few miles off the N.A.R. line, half way between Lac la Biche and Waterways was only one of his half dozen homes. He had smaller log cabins, a day's journey apart (on snow shoes) from one another and in between are the cleverly hidden traps.

T. W. PUE

Joe has to set the traps in such a way that he'll be able to find them again. Even when the trapped animal has died of starvation and frozen stiff and covered with snow. Mostly, however, Joe doesn't like to leave his trap line too long, because struggling animals, particularly muskrat if they don't (drown) will get away from the steel claws even if they have to leave behind a paw or a leg. Besides, in this inhumane business, Joe wanted to be as humane as possible and put the poor devils out of their misery with a well aimed .22 bullet.

FURS TO MARKET

Joe likes to go to Lac la Biche as often as possible but there's no sense in going without money, but if he's had a good fur catch he'll trek to the rail line and catch the once-a-week Northern Alberta Railways passenger train or one of the freights with the old half-passenger, half express car that trails on behind. He can alays be certain of disposing of his fur catch to one of the friendly fur traders in town. There's the Hudson's Bay Company, Sam Wooll, Bill Hamilton and others who will pay spot cash for all furs they buy.

Joe takes his furs in with him, sells them for cash, and then goes around town shopping for the flour, sugar and salt he'll need to keep his six cabins provisioned until his next trip to town, which probably won't be for another three months. He always buys other items, too, such as tea, coffee, canned milk, breakfast cereals and other tasties which run out in a week or two and then he's back on a rigid flour and salt diet punctuated by fresh fish, birds and rabbits.

LATE TRAIN

One day last spring Joe came into Lac la Biche with a good fur catch. I'm not sure how much money he got for his furs, but he arrived in town on Tuesday and planned on taking the Wednesday train out. He applied half his fur receipts to groceries and provisions, which he stored at the N.A.R. depot for safe keeping until train time and left half the remaining cash with a local department store manager for safe keeping. He determined to have a good time until train time Wednesday night, with the remainder of the swag, but the train was late. And Joe ran into trouble as a result.

By Wednesday night he had spent the money he had taken out, and all day Thursday kept coming in to the store to draw out more of the cash he had left there for safe keeping. He didn't have far to go. The hotel is just across the street.

By Thursday night the train still hadn't arrived and Joe was out of money. So all day Friday and Saturday he had three-way trips between the hotel, the railay station and the department store. He sold his groceries back to the grocer and used the money to buy more drinks.

HOME AGAIN

By the end of the week poor Joe had no more furs, no more money, no groceries. I'm not certain how he managed to eat when the drinks ran out but Joe had no money left to buy a railway ticket, and no more groceries to sell back to the department store.

He did, however, have plenty of time to recall a lost week, because he walked home.

Well, next spring there'll be another catch of furs, and we hope for Joe's sake there is no big snowfall to make the train late.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

Voice of the People

FOOD CONTROLS

Dear Sir—During the last decade, engineering control prices on all the farmers' wheat and coarse grains lost the prairie farmers a billion dollars. President Hannam of the C.F.A. now declares himself as being opposed to all food controls. Isn't he consistent?

Some day the prairie farmers will wake up, and manage their own business affairs—free from Ottawa pussyfooling and political chicaery. I said "some day"—and time is ageless.

BUTTER SHORTAGE

Dear Sir—The Canadian government found it necessary to import 10 million pounds of butter to offset anticipated shortages in this country.

There are already shortages of whole milk in certain areas of Canada, and this trend is likely to develop still further.

Canadian farmers are going out of dairying, due partly to the lack of sufficient competent labor and also to the more profitable nature of other branches of agricultural production.

AFA Demands Showdown On Marketing of Grain

The Alberta Federation of Agriculture has called for showdown on the issue of the present system of marketing coarse grains through the Canadian Wheat Board.

The Federation threw its weight behind the system involving marketing through the government agensy. But, at the same time, the AFA asked federal and provincial governments to let it be known to what extent they would be prepared to "actively support" the system.

The Federation called for a meeting of federal and provincial legal experts to clarify their respective constiutional rights and clear up "confusion among farmers and the grain trade."

Asking that the meeting be held in the near future, the Federation said confusion had resulted from Manitoba's decision to hold a plebiscite on the marketing system and Alberta's doubts about its constitutional rights to enforce the law.

The three prairie governments adopted complementary legislation before the federal government introduced the marketing system two years ago.

Hollywood Movie Actor Said 'Psychopathic Case'

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 10 — (BUP) — Actor Lawrence Tierney, whose "tough guy" screen roles have been reflected in his off-stage life, is being treated in a hospital psychopathic ward after police found him babbling incoherently in a church.

The 32 year-old actor, who played gangster John Dillinger on the screen was taken yesterday to the Los Angeles Neurological Institute ward in Santa Monica controlled by restraining straps after a fist fight with officers.

Policemen Roy Livingston and Don Cooke said they were called to St. Monica's Catholic church early yestrday to investigate a "loitering man."

They found Tierney, who has been arrested 12 times in the last seven years, kneeling barefoot before the church altar. Officer Cooke said Tierney appeared to be praying.

Tierney had been under psychiatric care since he was convicted recently of kicking a college student in the face during a pre-dawn brawl. He went to the church after escaping from his nurse-guard at his home.

The police said they attempted to persuade Tierney to leave the church quietly, but he leaped over the communion rail and ran up the aisle, frightening a handful of worshippers who had gathered for early mass.

When the officers seized him, Tierney clawed and fought viciously until they subdued him. Cooke and Livingstone said the actor told a disconnected story about alcoholism and his fear of being "murdered."

The officers took Tierney to Santa Monica police station, where his brother, Edward, attempted to quiet him.

But Tierney flew at his brother with swinging fists, and police were forced to bind his arms.

Vast Radar Network Set-Up to Scan Canada's North Frontiers for Enemy Craft

OTTAWA, Oct. 12 — (BUP) — Canada has opened the way for the United States to establish and operate reporting and radar detection stations in Canada, despite Canada-first provisions of the Radio Act.

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent made public yesterday the text of an order in council passed Aug. 8, authorizing Transport Minister Lionel Chevrier to waive radio Act provisions requiring all radio station license holders and operators to be British subjects.

The action was taken, the order said, "by reason of the existing international emergency" to carry out an extension of military and civil radio communication and radio aids to air and sea navigation facilities in this country.

"The rapid expansion of the use of specialized equipment such as certain types of aircraft ground control systems and radar stations, together with the scarcity of trained personnel in Canada, has made it expedient to arrange for the government of the United States of America, through its armed forces, to assist in providing and installing the necessary equipment, and in certain cases also to make available personnel to assist in (its) operation," the order in council said.

The order made no mention of where the stations or how many of them would be located in Canada.

BUSBY NEWS NOTES

The regular meeting of the W.I. met at the home of Mrs. R. Yeomans, when approximately 20 ladies atended a demonstration on "Spirella" products given by Mrs. Maynes of Dapp.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Elliott and family of Flatbush spent the long week-end at the home of Mr. Elliott's parents.

The annual Thanksgiving service was held at the United Church which was very tastefully decorated with a good selection of fruit and vegetables, all donated by the community. These were delivered to the Old People's Home at Fort Saskatchewan by Mr. W. A. Elliott, who brought back a message of thanks from the housekeeper of the home, who said all the gifts were greatly appreciated.

The Ladies' Aid met at the home of Mrs. H. Atkins for their regular monthly meeting. Plans were made to send old wool for blankets not later than Oct. 21. Anyone who has old wool and would like to send in this group please get in touch with Mrs. Elliott at the post office.

Quite an epidemic of stomach flu hit the district recently.

A Salute To Morinville

MORINVILLE — A few days ago a young gentleman from Wyoming passed through Morinville on a return journey from Alaska to his home. He was travelling by jeep, and remained in Morinville a short time while some repairs were being made on his machine. He was very favorably impressed by the appearance of the town, and composed the following lines while drinking a cup of coffee:

My car broke down in Morinville
I had to get fixed up—
And while my car was in garage
I lingered o'er a cup.
The coffee was delicious
The waitress she was fair,
A pretty, friendly French girl
(For many French live there).
The children playing by the church
Were happy and carefree,
Such joy to just be living
I very seldom see.
Everyone was busy,
The crops are good this year—
I find it quite inspiring,
This happy atmosphere.
Everyone was sociable,
I liked them all a lot,
I wandered up and down the street
And found I liked the spot.
I saw the church and monument,
In fact I saw it all—
But now I must be on my way,
There's other spots that call.
I've always wandered to and fro,
I never get my fill—
So I know that some day I will
Wander back through Morinville.
The beauty of your girls is rare,
Your streets are clean and neat:
Oh, Morinville, you strike me fair
Built in your fields of wheat.

So friendly town it is goodbye
I'll leave you this tribute;
I know that I'll be back some day,
Until then, I salute,
"THE TRAVELLER FROM WYOMING."

CONVICT CAUGHT

REGINA (BUP) — Royal Canadian Mounted Police here said a young convict who escaped from Regina jail on Sept. 19 has been recaptured in the state of Iowa.

The Mounties say Carl J. Halverson, who was serving a one-year term for auto theft, will be returned to this province to continue his prison term and face charges of jail breaking.

The Lighter Side

Curious

"Any questions about Washington?" asked the teacher.

"Yes'm," replied the little boy with freckles. "Did the G-man let the camera boys take his picture in the middle of the Delaware?"

"And was that real snow or confetti?"

Silly Question

Scene: Courtroom. Prosecutor turns to defendant. "Madam, on the day of the crime, while walking your dog, did you stop anywhere?"

The spectators sat tensely while she replied: "Sir, did you ever walk a dog?"

Public Property

A soldier parked an army jeep and started walking down the street. A policeman called after him: "Hey, buddy, drop a nickel in that parking meter."

"Put it in yourself," the GI yelled back. "That jeep belongs to you as much as it does to me."

Short Time

A social observer says that to be a caddy is bad for a young man because caddies get their money easily.

A caddy of our acquaintance indignantly denies this: he says that watching some of the people he had gone around with has undoubtedly shortened his life.

In Bad Shape

A credit reporting agency made the following report concerning a debtor:

"We have a report that this party has no property, either real or personal; no credit, either actual or potential; no prospects, either present or future; and no hope, either here or hereafter."

Something's Wrong

On their way home after a lively night in town, the two warriors on leave paused on a bridge and gazed intently at the dark river below them.

Suddenly one of them spotted the reflection of the moon down there.

"I shay, old boy, what's that?" he asked.

His friend, not quite so much under the weather, retorted:

"It's the moon, you mug!"

"The moon? Then what on earth are we doing up here?"

MARGE CHAMPION, who scored with husband Gower in movie "Show Boat," will trip the light fantastic with him again in MGM's forthcoming "Lovly to Look At" with Kathryn Grayson and Red Skelton.

Communist Lose Norwegian Vote

OSLO, Norway (BUP)—The Norwegian Communist party, whose strength has decreased steadily since 1945, suffered a 50-per cent loss of support in country-wide municipal elections, early returns showed.

The Labor party, which heads the national government and strongly supports the North Atlantic Pact organization, won a large early lead in the voting.

Letter to Louisa

Dear Louisa:-

I am a girl of sixteen and I am in love with a boy who is eleven years older than I. He goes with other girls but when we are together he seems happy. As soon as someone else comes around, he doesn't say much but keeps a close watch on me.

Do you think he really loves me or is just flirting?

He is a very nice boy in every way.

M. M. Undecided

Answer:

If he is serious he will let you know. Perhaps he is trying to decide whether you are too young for him or not as you say he watches you so carefully when others are around. Or it may be that he thinks he should let you get a little older before he tells you that he is seriuos.

A girl sixteen is very young to get married and she seldom knows exactly whether she is in love with the right man or not. Your taste in men is liable to change a great deal between the ages of sixteen and twenty.

Keep on being friendly but don't get too serious until you get a little older.

LOUISA

Dear Louisa:-

My wife of a year thinks our company should be sufficient for the both of us. She says that we were sastisfied to be together for a year before we were married so why should we wish to go out with other people now.

But to be perfectly frank I am getting awfully bored sitting home night after night with nothing to do but read or listen to the radio. I like my home but I think I should appreciate it much more if I did not have to stay in it every night.

What do you think.

Husband

Answer:

'No two people should try to live to themselves for several reasons. To begin with, they get into a rut and lose interest in other people and in what they are doing. If the friends that he and his wife make and associate with have a great deal to do with whether or not he is a business success.

People get a great deal more out of life if they learn to live easily and gracefully with other people rather than to crawl into their own little shells and shut out the world.

And last but not least, no matter how interesting two people are, they eventually reach the place where talking about "us" begins to pall if it is not interspersed with other little items.

So my advice is for you and your wife to associate with a group of young people that you like. It is not necessary to make whoopee every night but an occasional evening with the group at your home or at a movie will be good for you both.

LOUISA

USSR Making New Bid In Middle East

NAZARETH, Israel, Oct. 10—(BUP)—Russia is preparing a new bid to penetrate the Middle East which the Soviets hope to "neutralize" in the initial campaign now well under way.

Those forming current Soviet foreign policy can never forgive the Bolshevist revolutionaries of 30 years ago for failing to take advantage of the singular opportunity presented to them at the close of World War I to acquire an open door into the Mediterranean.

By a secret pact now known as the Constantinople Agreement of March 18, 1915, concluded among Britain, France and Czarist Russia just before the ill-fated Dardanelles expedition, it was agreed that in the event of an Allied victory which gives Turkey the right to close the Straits not only in wartime but upon "a general or special threat of war" is now out of the question.

Of the countries that signed the tory, Russia would obtain full possession of Constantinople together with both shores of the Bosphorus, part of Southern Thrace and certain islands in the Sea of Marmara which lies between the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles Straits. The Soviets, who then denounced all existing secret treaties of the Czarist Government, also repudiated this agreement.

Soviet Russia—as much as the Russian governments that preceded it by a century and a half—has been trying to find a way to get out of the Black Sea and into the Mediterranean. The USSR's only ports free of ice during the winter months are on the Black Sea.

Although Soviet merchant shipping has complete freedom to pass through the Dardanelles and into the Mediterranean via the Aegean Sea according to the 1936 Montreaux Agreement, the passage of Russian naval vessels through the Straits is limited.

Thus, Russia has no way of directly demonstrating its power to the Middle Eastern states bordering on the Mediterranean. Any revision of the Montreaux Agreement Montreaux Agreement, two—Bulgaria and Roumania—are Russian satellites. The other signatories are Britain, France, Russia, Japan, Turkey, Greece, Yugoslavia and Australia. It is not likely they will permit the Soviets to move into the Mediterranean.

Considerations of strategy take precedence over everything else in the Soviet's desire to be able to move freely in the Mediterranean. Since they cannot play power politics in this sea bordering on three continents, they are concentrating all their efforts on building up small cores of pro-Russian influence in those countries whose peoples they consider not liable to outright Communist propaganda. These are chiefly the Arab states of the eastern Mediterranean.

No Penny Slots In New Toy Banks

HACKENSACK, N.J.—(UP)—Sign of changing values—penny slots will be eliminated on the new toy banks produced by a local company.

Mrs. Ann Payson, president of the Durable Toy and Novelty Corp., announced that from now on the firm's banks will have three coin slots — for nickels, dimes and quarters. Pennies won't register in the bank, modelled after a cash register.

"The government's recent request for families to turn in extra pennies to alleviate the copper shortage is one reason for the change," Mrs. Payson said. "But I've also observed that pennies mean very little to children today. They show little appreciation for anything less than a dime."
